

Father's Day Food Fairs

 jwfoodandwine.com/article/2018/06/14/fathers-day-food-fairs

June 14, 2018

The reuben quesadilla at last year's Taste of Jewish Culture street fair/ Courtesy The Workmen's Circle

Bring the fathers in your life to these Jewish food fairs

Caroline Lagnado

06-14-2018

Ever thought of taking slices of chocolately babka and plopping some ice cream inside to make a babka ice cream sandwich? How about adding some lox and cream cheese to your tortilla chips for lox and cream cheese nachos? If food mashups are your thing, check out the Workmen's Circle Taste of Jewish Culture this Sunday whose theme this year is Diversity is Delicious. At the annual street fair which is falling on Father's Day this year, treat your dad to Aloo Tikki potato latkes, Land of Milk and Honey kakigori (a Japanese dessert), and very treyf reuben quesadillas. They are offering free egg creams for all dads.

Downtown families can celebrate Father's Day at the annual Egg Rolls, Egg Creams, and Empanadas festival which is hosted by The Museum at Eldridge Street. This fair celebrates the culinary and cultural influences of the Jewish, Chinese, and Puerto Rican communities on the Lower East Side.

07-05-2018

Jessica Halfin